On the 10th October, he embarked between 7 and 8 a.m. in a boat with the intention of crossing the bay to Corunna Point with 4 other men, since which time they have not been seen or heard of. At 4 p.m. the same day the boat was discovered on the shore at Corunna Point, with three large holes broken in her sides; there were found on shore the remains of a meal eaten, and ends of cigars, also a cigar holder of Mr. Young's, 2 of the mens hats, and a boot was also found.
