GEO. PHILLIPS,

7-3-98. Commissioner of Police.

C.O. 15.—Arrangements have been made for giving to each member of the Police Force below the rank of Sub-Inspector a distinctive register number. The figures forming the numbers for members of the force in each district, and pins to secure them, will be forwarded to the officer in charge for distribution as speedily as possible. When they are received, each member of the force will be required, when in uniform, to always wear his number, and will be liable to punishment if he appears without it.

The numbers will be worn on the caps and helmets, taking the place of the crown on the former, and being affixed one inch above the band on the latter. Each member of the force, when supplied with his number, will be debited in the store books with the figures of which it is formed and the pins used to secure it. If the number and pins, or any portion of the same are lost, he will be required to account for the loss, and if it is due to carelessness, will be called upon to pay the sum of sixpence per figure, and threepence per pin, to replace it, in addition to any punishment which may be inflicted upon him.

When a member of the force resigns, or is discharged or dismissed, his number must be returned to store; if he fails from any cause to return it complete, a deduction from his pay will be made.

Officers in charge of districts will see that each member of the force serving under them wears his number whenever he appears in uniform, and keeps it clean and bright.

In all memoranda and reports it is required that the number of any non-commissioned officer or constable referred to, shall, if known, be quoted; and when signing reports the members of the force are required to append their numbers as well as their rank to their signature—as for example—A. Brigham, Constable, No. 566.

Members of the detective force though not required to wear their numbers must quote the same when making reports. In the event of their transfer to general police duty, they will, of course, at once conform to this order in the same manner as other members of the force.

Below is given a list showing the number allotted to each member of the force:—
