

STONE JAMES & CO.

Alfred Hawes Stone qualified as a solicitor and practiced with his father in Tunbridge Wells, UK, before immigrating to Australia. He arrived at the Swan River Colony aboard the "Caroline" in October 1829, with the intention of pursuing his interest in agriculture.

In December 1829, whilst establishing himself as a farmer, Stone accepted honorary appointment as Justice of the Peace for the Canning District. In March 1830 he was appointed Clerk of the Peace for the newly established Court of Quarter Sessions, and on 27th January 1831 was given permission by Lieut. Governor Stirling to practice as a solicitor, Attorney at Law, Conveyancer and Notary Public.

Stone encouraged his youngest brother, George, to join him in Western Australia and the brothers practiced together in partnership in 1834, under the name A.H. & G.F. Stone. It is not known how long the partnership lasted.

(Sir) Edward Albert Stone was born on 9 March 1844 in Perth, WA, the third of nine children of George Frederick Stone and his wife Charlotte Maria, née Whitfield. He was admitted to the Western Australian Bar in 1865, and married Susannah Shenton in the Wesleyan Chapel, Perth, on 13 July 1867. After being in partnership with his father, he joined Septimus Burt in 1876 and founded the firm of Stone & Burt.

(Sir) Walter Hartwell James was born on 29 March 1863 in Perth, son of Edward Senior James of the Colonial Commissariat and his wife Lucy, née Francisco. He was articled to George Leake in 1883. He studied in Perth and served six months in a barrister's office in London before being called to the Western Australian Bar in 1888. He married Welsh-born Eleanora Marie Gwenyfred Hearder, at the Anglican Church, Albany, on 21 June 1892.

James, in partnership with R. R. Pilkington, formed an amalgamation with the firm of (Sir) Edward Stone and Septimus Burt in 1919. Stone James & Co. became one of the largest law firms in Perth.

In 1982, Stephen Jaques & Stephen merged with Stone James of Perth. The merged firm was called "Stephen Jaques Stone James". In 1987, Stephen Jaques Stone James merged with Mallesons - and the firm adopted its present name of "Mallesons Stephen Jaques".
